

Podcast: Changes to Federal Aid Programs

Publication Date:

December, 2012

Diantha Parker talks with Indivar Dutta-Gupta [1] of the Center on Budget and Policy Priorities about how changes to safety net programs could affect low and middle income Americans.

CPI's podcasts, hosted by Diantha Parker[2], feature discussions of cutting-edge research on poverty, inequality, and social policy. Funding comes from the Elfenworks Foundation, The Russell Sage Foundation, and the United States Department of Health and Human Services.

- Login

Back to Top

- Research
- Programs
- Publications
- News
- Subscribe
- Contact

Stanford University | © 2017 Stanford Center on Poverty and Inequality
All rights reserved

Source URL: <http://inequality.stanford.edu/publications/media/details/podcast-changes-federal-aid-programs>

Links

[1] <http://www.cbpp.org/experts/index.cfm?fa=view&id=195>

[2] <http://www.journalism.columbia.edu/profile/193>