Reducing Gender Inequality in the Workplace

CPI research group leader Shelley Correll has developed a new method to reduce gender bias in the workplace. The "small wins model" focuses on educating managers and workers and has been piloted at several technology companies.

- Read the Stanford News article [1]

Reference Information

Publication Date:
January, 2018

Category:
Center News
workplace

Links